Family Service Bureau Appeals To Council For Aid

A request for support was received by council this week from the Crows Nest Pass - Pincher Creek Family Service Bureau.

The letter suggested that the Bureau was presently preparing a budget of estimated expenditures for the forthcoming year, and were going to try to get the town and village councils and the municipal districts to provide one-half of the costs for the year.

The remaining half would be raised by the Bureau through canvass and aid from local organizations. It is estimated that the Bureau's services cover an area populated by some 15,000 persons.

Towns and villages could base their support for the Bureau on a per capita basis.

Council will consider sending a town employee to Edmonton to attend a three-day course being provided by the government to give instruction in new system maintenance and operation.

A special meeting is to be held by council to deal with a proposed wage scale for the town employees.

Approval was given for the reimbursement of the office staff for the over-time work they have put in.

Collins and Hames were re-appointed as auditors for the Town of Coleman and the departmental assessments were also re-appointed for the year.

Mike Vrabec, engineer for Underwood McLean and Associates, reported that good progress was being made on the town sewer system.

John Wavrean submitted the library report showing that the total membership of 194 included 165 juveniles, 21 high school students and 23 adults.

His report also showed the library had a total of 3803 books available for readers and during last season 3753 books were borrowed by members.

The election of officers was held and the entire slate returned by acclamation. The officers are:

President, Mrs. Beattie Upton. Secretary, Mel Cornett.

Treasurer, Mildred Zak. Librarian, John Wavrean.

Assistant Librarian, Mrs. Emily Masura.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Horace Allen to all who have supported the library during the past year and to the library staff for the efforts they put forth last term.

Council Utility Meeting Held

Coleman council at its utility meeting January 18th, passed a motion to delay the revision of water rates for a period of six months and remain on the present schedule.

Foreman Ernest Montabelli was requested to prepare and present to council an estimate of expenditures and work to be done in 1966 for the Light and Water Department.

Plans and specifications for the new pump house were presented to council for study by the engineers. After a long session is made and details are finalized, council will call for tenders for this work.

This is the result of the Legion holding two social evenings and two bingo nights per month as well as making the club rooms available to others for various functions.

Consideration is being given by the club to extend and enlarge the club rooms by an area of 25 by 40 feet on the west side of the Legion. This property is owned by the Legion. As soon as details are finalized the club hopes to call for tenders.

Council has approved the plans and is awaiting the approval of the governments for this project after which steps will get underway immediately to get work started.

Fire Never Takes a Holiday

It's particularly important that we keep this in mind during the holiday season ahead, for many of our Christmas customs increase fire hazards in our home. And in the rush of Christmas activities, there may come the careless, thoughtless act which opens the door to deadly fire.

This is the season, says the Alberta Safety Council, when mothers doing last-minute shopping may be tempted to leave small children at home unsupervised "for just a few minutes". The tragic aftermath for some is to come home to find that fire has made it a place of death and destruction.

Especially during the holiday season, always heed the first rule of fire safety for your children—Never leave them alone and unattended even for "just a few minutes".

You can keep fire hazards to a minimum in your home for Christmas by following these suggestions from the Alberta Safety Council and your local fire department:

1—When picking out a tree choose a fresh one. Saw off the butt at an angle an inch or more above the original cut. Stand the tree in water from the time you buy it until you dispose of it. Don't rely on chemical preparations to "flame-proof" your tree—none is truly effective. Set the tree away from radiators or fireplace and never where it might block your escape in case of fire.

2—if you choose a plastic tree, be sure it is marked as made of slow burning materials. If it has a built-in lighting system, it should carry the CSA (Canadian Standards Association) label. Metal trees will conduct electricity, so use only indirect lighting. Lighting strings on the tree may create a dangerous shock hazard.

3—Decorative lighting should be used with care. Check lighting strings before using for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Never use wax candles on or near the tree, or with polystyrene foam candleholders or decorations. Turn off tree and other decorative lighting before retiring or leaving the house. For outdoor lighting, use only sets listed for outdoor use by the CSA.

4—Use non-combustible decorating materials (metal, glass, asbestos, etc.) wherever possible. If combustible—like cotton batting, flocking and paper—be sure they are "flame proofed".

5—Dispose of gift wrappings very promptly. (It's unsafe to burn them in a living room or game room fireplace).

6—Be extra careful about smoking near the tree. Most important of all plan in advance the escape measures and exit routes needed for the life safety of your family in case of fire.

Cut Road Deaths In Canada, 1966

"When society accepts the seriousness of the highway traffic situation and demands action, the accident trend will swing downward," declared W. Arch Bryce, executive director of the Canadian Highway Safety Council. To save lives on the road in 1966, Mr. Bryce reviewed four necessary actions:

1 Train young drivers for 60 years of resourceful driving. No matter how this is accomplished or who does it, or who pays for it, this training is a logical and essential step towards reducing road accidents.

2 Driver improvement courses. The trend in all provinces is towards the re-examination of drivers supposedly experienced to update their knowledge of the rules of the road and good driving practices, and to check their skills and physical and possibly mental conditions.

3 Motor vehicle inspection. Although recent studies indicate that one accident in 10 can be blamed wholly or in part on vehicle failure, the suspicion is that poor vehicle maintenance plays an even larger part in many traffic mishaps. Facing an increase in accidents over the last four years, a reduction of one accident in 10 would be a phenomenal achievement. A dull knife, an out-of-tune piano or dull skates will not function. Why should a defective motor vehicle be tolerated?

4 Control of the drinking driver. Until enforcement bodies are provided with a tool to determine accurately the blood alcohol level of the driver, no real control of the menacing situation may be expected. The individual who drinks beyond a statutory level, then drives, invades the privacy of all fellow users of the highway. The use of the breathalyzer should be made mandatory and a uniform blood alcohol level established.

The Common Head Cold

If your nose is stuffy and you have difficulty breathing, chances are you are suffering from one of the most widespread and prevalent of all diseases—coryza.

Chilling and overheating make a person particularly susceptible to coryza, which is why it is so prevalent at this time of the year.

There is no known cure. Although it is relatively minor, coryza causes an annual loss of more than $5 billion each year in the United States alone in terms of time lost from work, wages lost, and the cost of treating the disease and its complications.

Persons of all ages are susceptible to coryza, according to World Book Encyclopedia, but pre-school youngsters seem to be most susceptible. More than 30 million illnesses each year in American pre-school youngsters are caused by coryza.

William Henry Harrison, ninth president of the United States, delivered his inaugural address on a cold, windy day and caught coryza. This developed into pneumonia and he died a month later. Coryza is what keeps handkerchief makers and tissue manufacturers in business.

It is popularly known as the common head cold.

Alta. Progressive Conservative Meet

The panel discussion, dubbed "The Challenge of Education for the Seventies", will deal with education costs of the future, automation in education, administrative problems and how parents and children will be affected by anticipated changes in education.

Members of the panel include: Harvey Bliss, former chairman of the Calgary School Board; Geoff F. Coote, a director of Western Research and Developments Ltd.; Dr. A. Katzmann, chairman of the Alberta School Trustees' Association; Dr. E. J. Hanson, assistant dean of the faculty of graduate studies, University of Alberta, Edmonton; and Mrs. Geo. Garbutt, president of the Alberta Federation of Home and School Associations.

Newfoundland Commemorative Stamp

Newfoundland's coat of arms and floral emblem will appear on a stamp to be released February 23, 1966, Postmaster General Jean-Pierre Ote announced today.

This large five cent stamp will be printed in tones of black, green and red. The provincial emblem, the Pitcher Plant, which was adopted in 1954, will be printed by the offset process. The intaglio method will print the coat of arms. The stamp is one in the floral emblem series honoring Canada's Centennial in 1967. The series began in 1964 and will be completed this year.

The Canadian Bank Note Company designed and printed 24 million stamps from data provided by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The common cold may be one of a number of distinct infections of the respiratory tract, according to World Book Encyclopedia. Although scientists have developed several anti-cold vaccines, none has proved effective against all types of colds.

Simple Rules For Care Of Walls and Masonry

Cracks occur in interior plaster walls because of shrinkage in framing lumber, or because of traffic vibrations. They generally occur early in the life of a house, so it is wise to postpone extensive decorating until your home is "broken in". Then cracks can be filled by the decorator or by yourself.

Many new houses employ dry-wall finishes on interior walls and ceilings, which have the advantage of eliminating a great deal of water used in construction and thus reducing moisture effects.

However, minor cracks may still occur from other stresses. Scuff marks and indentations on interior walls can be filled with two or three applications of the cement used for taping joints in dry-wall construction.

To repair a large crack in an exterior masonry wall, cut into it a V-shaped groove equal to the width inside. (This "keys" the mortar to the wall and keeps it from falling out.)

Dampen the crack and fill with a mortar similar to the one originally used.

Fill medium sized cracks with a heavy paste made from dry cement and a little water. Force it into the crack with a stiff bristle brush or putty knife. Add mineral pigment to match the wall color.

For fine hairline cracks, cement base paint applied with a short, stiff bristled brush will suffice.

Brick and glazed tile walls may be cleaned with soap and water. Remove stubborn discolorations by gently scrubbing with household scouring powder. Efflorescence, a white powder substance, which sometimes develops on masonry walls, can be removed by a solution of one part muriatic acid to nine parts water (no stronger).

Rinse the wall thoroughly before and after this treatment, wearing gloves when you apply it.

If mortar joints between bricks soften, they should be re-pointed with cement mortar. Cut out loose mortar to a depth of at least half an inch, clean the cavity, refill with appropriate mortar, and tool to a smooth surface.

Any extensive filling of joints of old brick work with new mortar, however, is a job for a professional contractor.

"Supply and Demand University Grads" Booklet

Approximately 43,000 students will graduate from Canadian universities in 1966, about 15 per cent more than the graduating class of 1965, W. C. Stewart of Winnipeg, prairie regional director of the National Employment Service, said today.

The NES official said this information was contained in the new issue of "Supply and Demand, University Graduates", produced by the NES with the aid of experts in the field of education, business and industry.

The booklet, available through any National Employment Office or NES placement office on the university campus, is of particular interest to employers and to graduate and undergraduate students, said Mr. Stewart.

Another publication produced by NES, a "Supply and Demand" booklet relating to graduating technological students, will be available shortly.

"Approximately 19,000 university and technological institute students registered on the campus with NES student placement offices across our prairie region during the 1964-65 academic year, an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year," Mr. Stewart said. "Slightly under one half of the graduating students of the past academic year and those in graduate studies during the same period were placed in continuing gainful employment through NES Student Placement Offices in the prairie region," said the NES director. Summer employment was found for about 35 per cent of the students in undergraduate categories through student placement offices.

"The trend toward higher enrollments continues," Mr. Stewart said, "and according to our new 'Supply and Demand' booklet, Canada will graduate about 850,000 persons with first degrees during the period from 1963-64 to 1973-74." The number of persons obtaining graduate degrees is increasing more rapidly than the number obtaining first degrees, it was noted. In 1964-65, undergraduate enrollment increased by about 11 per cent, while graduate enrollment rose by 25 per cent.

Information regarding opportunities available in the various faculties, including estimated monthly starting salaries for graduates, is to be found in the "Supply and Demand" booklet, Mr. Stewart pointed out. "Employment in a wide variety of challenging fields is open to those who are qualified," he stated. "Generally speaking, employment opportunities for the graduate are increasing."

U. of A. Degree Program In Nursing Is Reduced

The University of Alberta degree program in Nursing is to be reduced from a five- to a four-year program beginning in September, 1966. The new four-year program leading to the degree B.Sc. in Nursing will be more in line with the programs offered at the Universities of McGill, Toronto, B. C., New Brunswick and Manitoba, and will be in accord with a recommendation of the Royal Commission on Health Services that "all University Schools of Nursing develop an integrated degree program and direct all phases of the program."

The new degree program will come under the direct control of the University rather than the former arrangement where the University Hospital gave part of the program. The University Hospital will, however, continue to offer the diploma program for Registered Nurses. Two three-month summer periods will be required for degree students, following the second and third years. According to the University's Director of Nursing, Miss Ruth E. McClure, the School is investigating the possibility of providing a subsidy for the students to cover such expenses as room and board during these two summer periods. She stated that the new program will be more academic due to the complete University control and will be more in keeping with other professional programs offered at the University.

Until 1969-70, at which time students in the current five-year program will have completed requirements, enrolment in the four-year program will be limited to 20 to 25 students each year.

Instant happiness! Read a book or pamphlet and then live happily ever after. This is what some of us yearn for, but it's not quite that simple. But some people do seem to have a formula — a philosophy — that helps them to live happy, useful lives. Dr. Will Menninger has given us his personal guidelines in a pamphlet entitled "Seven Keys to a Happy Life". You may have it, free, by writing to the Canadian Mental Health Association, 618 Revillon Building, Edmonton.

After this Associated Press photo of a stricken Vietnamese girl appeared in hundreds of papers across Canada and the United States last summer thousands offered help. Foster Parents' Plan's Canadian-born director in Saigon located the girl in hospital and enrolled her. The photo at right shows her after she began receiving monthly aid through the Plan. Almost 7,000 Canadians give help to destitute children in the Far East, Europe and South America, on a person-to-person basis, through Foster Parents' Plan. Information may be had by writing P.O. VIEWING HIGHLIGHTS FOR THE COMING WEEK

January 29th - February 4th
One of the most bizarre cases in the annals of Montreal crime will be dramatized on the Show of the Week Monday, January 31st at 9 p.m. It is entitled "The Desperate Search".

It began in 1958 with a newspaper ad: "young bachelor with new heavy car wanted for long trip right away. $700.00 a month, plus expenses and bonus; give car model and year". It sounded promising for 21-year-old Francois Boucette, but it spelled murder. Co-selle Lee, Diana La Blanc and Bernard Behrens star in this intriguing drama.

Wednesday, February 2nd at 9:30 p.m. Festival will present "Ashes to Ashes", a drama by Marc Brabant, starring Peter Wyngarde and Pat Galloway. A charming but mysterious man meets an attractive no-nonsense advertising woman in the chamber of horrors at Madame Tussaud's wax museum in London. His object, is either matrimony—or murder.

The 12th Winter Conference, sponsored by the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs in co-operation with the CBC recently concluded in Toronto. On Sunday, at 3 p.m. the program entitled "The People Are the City" will show highlights on this year's discussion of the practice of local democracy.

Among the subjects covered will be the Metropolitan form of government; the new communities; the relationship of local government to the people and the future of local government in Canada.

Films of life inside Communist China will be featured on "The View From Peking" — CBC News magazine Tuesday, February 1st, at 10 p.m.

Commentary on the film will be given by Mark Gayn—the Toronto Daily Star's expert on Communism who recently returned from Mainland China, and CBC's Far East correspondent, Tom Gould.

The first of a new series of nine stories on "The Cariboo Country", beginning this week on The Serial centres on a very real dilemma in the British Columbia cattle country today — the gradual take-over of the small independent ranches by the big outfits expanding their cattle empires.

Rancher Smith is one such independent, a small rancher with no money and only about 30 head of cattle. He's the smallest rancher in Namko, the mythical community created by Vancouver Sun columnist Paul St. Pierre. David Hughes stars as rancher Smith, with Lillian Carlson as Norah and Allan Cheilier as their son Sherwood.

The Serial is scheduled Thursdays at 10:30 p.m.

Danny Gullivan calls the play-by-play from the Montreal Forum when the Canadiens take on the New York Rangers on Hockey Night in Canada—this Saturday, Sunday at 4 p.m. on The Wonderful World of Golf, Australian Bruce Devlin and Charlie Sifford, the leading colored professional in the United States, compete at the Royal Selangor Golf Club, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia.

"Courtesy Patrol Service"

The Alberta Motor Association plans to operate a "Courtesy Patrol Service" on the recently opened portion of Highway 2, between Leduc and Ponoka.

A spokesman for the 222-hour member organization points out the 50-mile section of 4-lane divided highway is without service stations or other emergency facilities, and says "there appears to be a definite need for a patrol service of this nature at this time of year."

The "Courtesy Patrol Service" began on Friday, January 14th, and is offered daily from 6 p.m. to 12 midnight "when a breakdown could have more serious consequences".

The service will use a van, operated by a skilled mechanic, and equipped with extra gasoline, booster cables, jacks, first aid and other emergency equipment.

The van has been provided by Volkswagen Northern Ltd. of Edmonton.

The van will also be equipped with a radio-telephone, courtesy of the Alberta Department of Highways, to enable the operator to maintain constant contact with the A.M.A. offices in Edmonton and Red Deer and the RCMP. Motorists who require emergency assistance on the highway may also reach the patrol service by phoning direct to Mobile Operator YJ2932. This service will be provided to all motorists, regardless of whether they are A.M.A. members.

A.M.A. officials say the "Courtesy Patrol Service" will be offered on an "experimental basis for an indefinite period of time to determine the need and effectiveness of such a service".

Participating in the brief ceremony that got the "Courtesy Patrol Service" underway were Alberta Highways Minister Gordon Taylor; AMA president, Dr. J. A. Lampard; C. J. Ferguson, chairman of the Edmonton branch, and C. L. Metcalfe, chairman of the Courtesy Patrol Committee.

ALBERTA JUNIOR CITIZEN OF THE YEAR BULLETIN:

WAINWRIGHT GIRL HONORED FOR DEVOTION TO FAMILY

At fifteen years of age, Judith Rutledge has proved herself a worthy Junior Citizen by her unselfish care of and devotion to her family. Judith's mother, a courageous victim of ill health, is now confined to a wheel chair.

For over four years Judith, the only girl in a family of six children, has cheerfully taken over the cooking, baking, canning, freezing and laundry in the ranch home. Her older brothers are busy with outside work. Judith is also responsible for the care of her younger brothers.

This heavy load of responsibility has not prevented Judith from doing well in school. She also finds time to be an active member of the 4-H Greenhills Beef Club.

We congratulate Judith. Our thanks to Alberta's Weekly Newspaper Editors for their active co-operation in the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year program, sponsored by Alberta's investor-owned electric utility companies.

This is one of a series of Junior Citizen Award announcements. Our special thanks to L. D'Albertanson, Editor of the Wainwright Star-Chronicle and to Judith's nominator, Mrs. D. K. Roach of Wainwright.
